

Attention: Cadets, Graduate, & Veteran Students

Here's an ideal solution for gaining on-the-ground experience while learning about the world.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

This one-week program is designed to give undergraduate and graduate students the opportunity to explore and investigate the United Kingdom's educational system, history, politics, and culture. Students will work with secondary school faculty and students. They will interact with education faculty and students in the Institute of Education at the University College London.

OBJECTIVES

Expand students' knowledge related to the UK's educational system as well as its culture, geography, politics, and economy.

Provide opportunities to foster sensitivity, appreciation, and understanding of diversity.

Enhance understanding of educational policies and practices.

Meet with secondary and university students to learn about their goals, needs, and issues.

Compare UK and US pedagogical techniques.

Explore the American roots of British Rock 'n' Roll.

Examine oral history with a topical emphasis on grassroots movement for social change.

Summer 2017 Study in London Program ($4,550)

June 14 – June 24

Education Courses

EDUC 409: International Exploration of Classroom Assessment
EDUC 585: Independent Research in Education
EDUC 512: Data Collection & Analysis
EDUC 549: Applied Measurement Techniques

History Courses

HIST 320/590: The British Invasion & the Transatlantic Sixties
HIST 590: Oral History and Social Movements
HIST 770: Independent Study in History

Dr. Renée Jefferson | Capers 327-D
renee.jefferson@citadel.edu | 953-7124

Dr. Kerry Taylor | Capers 424-A
kerry.taylor@citadel.edu | 953.5357